PSC Announces Telemedicine Grants to Non-profit Hospitals, Clinics and Public Health Agencies Across the State

MADISON- The Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSC) has announced that several non-profit hospitals, clinics, and public health agencies around the state will receive grants from Wisconsin's Universal Service Fund (USF) program.

“Choosing from among the many qualified projects was a difficult decision,” said Chairperson Dan Ebert. “All of the applicants are delivering vital services to their communities – meeting real needs and making real impacts. This only highlights the importance of the USF program and why it is imperative to continue providing it in Wisconsin.”

The Universal Service Fund, created under Wisconsin law, allows the PSC to collect fees from telecommunication providers and award $500,000 annually to non-profit medical clinics and public health agencies. The grants help clinics purchase telecommunications equipment, promote advanced medical services, and enhance access to medical care in underserved areas.
