Critical Infrastructure Microgrids and Community Resilience Centers (CIMRC) Final Reports now Available

- The Office of Energy Innovation recently published the final reports from the CIMCRC grant program.
- The CIMCRC program was established in 2021 to focus on innovative pre-disaster mitigation through critical infrastructure microgrids and other resilient building strategies by studying the feasibility of the deployment of distributed energy resources (DERs) and appropriately sized storage, along with grid-interactive controls.
- Visit the OEI-CIMCRC webpage to take a look at all the final reports and take a look at the interactive story map.
